Hi everyone....I'm Amanda currently in NY. MS Learning Support teacher at ICS in Ethiopia.

From Pita-Gay Nelson to All panelists and attendees: (03:24 pm)

Perhaps teachers could help students by creating screen casts on how to organize their emails, create labels, filtering emails from specific teachers into color-coded folders, etc. Gmail allows for this and it has helped some of my students.

From Jhon F Consuegra to All panelists and attendees: (03:25 pm)

Motivation, Matt. This an essential point.

From Me to All panelists and attendees: (03:28 pm)

It sounds bad but google "CRAP" design. Contrast, Repetition, Alignment and Proximity. Great approach to designing accessible resources for all learners.

From Elena Cistoldi to All panelists and attendees: (03:29 pm)

I think it is important to encourage peer support. The lack of modeling from peers is a big vacancies in remote learning. Connections between students are very important.

How about the website they mentioned before about ADHD?

From Elena Cistoldi to All panelists and attendees: (03:30 pm)

I think it is important to acknowledge that remote learning created a new group of struggling learners and it is important to identify them
